

Adult Program Read & Go Trip

Penderlea Homestead, NC

Thursday, May 23, 2019

Do you have an interest in NC history or touring historical sites? This trip is based on the Read and Go book "A Chosen Few." We will be leaving from the Anne Gordon Active Adult Center at Millbrook Exchange Park (1901 Spring Forest Road) at 6:30am.

Following the Great Depression, one class of workers most effected by the failure of the financial institutions in the United States was farmers. In 1934, President Franklin D. Roosevelt addressed the plight of the impoverished small farmer by establishing 152 homestead projects in the hardest hit rural areas across the USA. Penderlea Homestead Farms in Pender County, NC was one of them. Carolyn Booth, author of "A Chosen Few", will meet us to share her family's experience while living at Penderlea. We will have a guided tour of the Penderlea Homestead Farms and the Penderlea Homestead Museum.

We will visit the oldest Russian Orthodox Church in NC, Saints Peter and Paul Russian Orthodox Church, located in a little community called St. Helena. The church, built in 1932, has a beautiful little onion dome and was recently put on the National Register of Historic Places. We will be given a tour of the church and hear about the history from one of the three faithful church members (mother, her sister and her son). We will enjoy a group lunch at The Mad Boar before the final stop at Liberty Hall in Kenansville, NC. The Antebellum South was once treasured for its grace and charm and Liberty Hall stands today as a proud reminder of this time period that exists only in history books. Liberty Hall was built in the early 1800's and is the ancestral home of the prominent Kenan family who were among the earliest founders and leaders in Duplin County and the state. The house has been restored and is a Southern Historic Landmark museum, welcoming visitors from all over the world ($5.00 donation needed on day of trip).

The group will arrive back at the Anne Gordon Center in Raleigh at approximately 7p.m. Feel free to bring snacks and drinks to eat as we will only have short rest stops along the way.
